Metro Tasmania Pty Ltd is a state owned company established in February 1998. The company trades as Metro and operates bus services in Hobart, Launceston and Burnie. Metro is the largest passenger transport company in Tasmania. In May 1999 Metro purchased Hobart Coaches which operates services to New Norfolk, Richmond, Blackmans Bay and the Channel area, outlying areas of Hobart. Hobart Coaches is now the regional services division of Metro. Metro has a rich history, which can be traced back to 1893 when the Hobart Electric Tramway Company commenced operating tram services in Hobart. The Hobart City Council purchased the company in 1913 and operated as Hobart Municipal Tramways.
